

ALS ASSIST

There are many things that the EMT is able to do to help the ALS provider perform their skills.

This program is designed to orient the EMT to the various equipment and skills that an ALS provider does, why they do them, and how the EMT may help.

Learners will have hands-on experience with intubation equipment, IV supplies, cardiac monitors, and other equipment. Since sharps will be used, the learners will review proper handling and disposal of such devices as well as cleaning procedures for equipment.

In no way does this program authorize the EMT to perform ANY of the skills that will be discussed.
